

Alford Says He Will Run for Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Rep. Dale Alford said today he would run for governor this year and Gov. Orval E. Faubus said it was news to him.

Faubus, now in his fourth term, said "I knew nothing about it," when he was asked if Alford's announcement came as a surprise.

He said he hadn't made his future plans but that the Alford statement would have no effect on them.

The general speculation has been that either Alford or Faubus would oppose Sen. J. William Fulbright for the Senate seat and that Alford would run for governor only if Faubus decided to take on Fulbright.

Alford's announcement apparently ended the possibility that he will run against Fulbright.

If Faubus decides to seek a fifth term as governor and Alford stays in the race, it would mean a contest between two one-time political allies.

Some observers have professed recently to see indications that Faubus and Alford personally are not as close as they once were although their publicly-stated views often coincide.

Alford, a segregationist, went to the House in 1958 by defeating racially moderate Rep. Brooks Hays, D., as a last-minute write-in candidate in the general election.

He had at least the tacit approval of Faubus, one of whose close associates managed his campaign.

Alford declined to say what he thought Faubus might do.

He also refused to elaborate otherwise on a brief prepared statement handed out at a hurriedly-called news conference.

Although winning office as an independent, Alford was seated in the House as a Democrat.

The State Democratic Committee also officially declared him a Democrat and he won renomination and re-election as a Democrat in 1960.

Alford's early announcement came as a general surprise.

The news conference was called only a half hour before he disclosed his candidacy.

His three-paragraph statement said:

"After scores of public appearances throughout our State since last summer, in all fairness to many close friends in every section of Arkansas, I have decided to announce my plans for the New Year."

Negro Admits to Slaying and Rape

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo. (AP)—James Buddy Williams, 34, a Negro ex-convict orally confessed Monday to the shotgun slaying of an Arkansas youth and the rape of the youth's girlfriend.

Frank Craig, 19, of Blytheville, Ark., and Brenda Joyce Raines, 17, of Holland, Mo., were found dead on a country road near Holland Saturday.

Pemiscot County Sheriff Clyde Orton said Williams admitted shooting Craig and raping the girl, but maintained he could not remember clubbing her to death.

Orton said charges are expected to be filed today.

Craig was found slumped behind the wheel of his car, killed by a shotgun blast in the head. The charge was fired through the windshield. The girl's body was found in an abandoned farm house about 200 yards from the car. She had been raped and wounded in the right shoulder by a shotgun charge but medical authorities said she was killed by repeated blows on the head. The broken stock of the shotgun was found near the house.

Williams, who lives near the scene of the slayings, was arrested after witnesses reported seeing him near Craig's auto about the time Craig and the girl were killed.

Monday night Williams was taken to Cape Girardeau, where he was submitted to a lie detector test, which was conducted by Sgt. M. G. Swingle in mid 40s. High Wednesday mid to high 50s.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The three-nation control commission today airlifted 220 neutralist and pro-Communist troops to this Western capital for the long-expected meeting Wednesday of Laos' three political princes.

Red China's news agency charged that a U.S. jet fighter made harassing circles over troops boarding an airlift plane at Xieng Khouang in the Plain of Jars but "fled hurriedly" when anti-aircraft units received orders to fire.

Congolese Are Joining United Nations Forces

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Ninety Congolese soldiers will put on the blue berets of the United Nations Wednesday to join the U.N. army at Kamina base, the United Nations announced today. They are to have the same status as any other national contingent in the U.N. Congo force.

They will be the first of more than 900 Congolese soldiers scheduled to serve eventually under the U.N. flag.

Their duties at Kamina, U.N. officials said, will be to guard the important U.N. base in Katanga Province and perform routine reconnaissance work alongside Indian, Swedish, Norwegian and Canadian troops based there.

U.N. headquarters made clear the Congolese are not to be used in any offensive actions against Katanga President Moïse Tshombe's secessionist government. But their presence is likely to increase Tshombe's fear the United Nations may assist the central Congolese army to reoccupy Katanga by force.

The political crisis between the central government and Katanga settled into a nervous period of apprehension while officials waited to see if Tshombe would stick to the agreement he signed last week with Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central government.

The first test of the Tshombe declaration, in which he promised in effect to end Katanga's secession, will come Wednesday when the Katanga members of Parliament are supposed to arrive to take up their places in the national legislature.

U.N. sources indicated that arrangements are being made to fly the 15 Katanga legislators to Leopoldville in a U.N. plane and house them here in accommodations guarded by the United Nations.

50 Killed in Colombia Outbreak

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—At least 50 worshippers were killed in a Christmas Eve outbreak of Colombia's persistent banditry and terrorism when a bomb exploded in the midst of a religious procession. Eighty persons were reported under arrest in the hunt for the terrorists.

The explosion occurred in the square of an artillery battalion barracks in the west Colombian city of Buga, 300 miles southwest of Bogota.

A communique placed the death toll at 50. Reports from the scene said 51 were killed and more than 110 injured.

The bomb went off as a procession of worshippers bearing a figure of the Christ child passed through the square to place the figure in a manger. A woman said she saw a man carrying a bundle through the crowd and he was one of the victims.

A flying piece of debris killed one man in a car. One report said the victims were injured by nails and other metal fragments.

The infirmary, the officer's club and other installations were badly damaged.

Gen. Alberto Ruiz Nova, Colombian armed forces commander, said terrorists planted the bombing to gain entry to the barracks. It was believed they planned to steal arms and ammunition.

The national government in Bogota ordered the Red Cross to mobilize a disaster force for injured were taken to neighboring Buga. A private relief fund was started for the victims. The towns and urgent appeals were issued for blood donors.

Negro Man Shoots at Two, Kills Self

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP)—An elderly Negro man fatally shot himself in the kitchen of his home here Monday after he had fired at two neighbors and a police officer.

Deputy Sheriff Wayne Young said Bland Coleman, about 70, apparently went berserk and shot at the neighbors, Joe Dean and E. T. Parnell, with a .22 caliber pistol. They were not hit.

Dean and Parnell called police and city patrolman Merrill Brannon went to the town's Negro section and knocked on Coleman's door.

Coleman fired through the door and the bullet narrowly missed Brannon. Then the officer heard another shot and charged into the house. He found Coleman lying in a pool of blood in the kitchen, the pistol still clutched in his hand. Coleman's elderly wife, the only other person in the house at the time of the shooting, was not harmed, Young said.

The wounded man was rushed to a Little Rock hospital, where he died several hours later. Coroner Dr. W. C. Hays ruled suicide.

MR. AND MRS. STANLEY WHITE OF LAMAR, MO., WERE visitors at The Star office this morning. Mr. White was advertising manager of this newspaper in 1934-36, leaving in February of the latter year to join the radio staff of WKY, affiliated with the Daily Oklahoman & Times in Oklahoma City.
HE SERVED IN THE NAVY AS A LIEUTENANT COMMANDER, then rejoined the Oklahoma City station as sales manager. For the Oklahoma City interests he installed an NBC station in Peoria, Ill., and ran it for two years — then returned to O. C. to enter the sporting goods business.
IN 1953 MR. AND MRS. WHITE MOVED TO LAMAR TO assume charge of the Lamar Democrat, a daily and weekly newspaper owned by Betty White's late father, Arthur Aull. It is a family-owned property, of which Mr. White now is manager. They visited Hot Springs during the holidays and routed their trip home by way of Hope in order to make their first visit here since the 1930's.

Fires Mar Some Areas on Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Spectacular fires marred both the coming and going of Christmas Day.

Baltimore, Md., firemen fought into the early morning hours today before gaining control of a multiple alarm fire in a six-story building housing a wholesale produce firm just south of the downtown business district.

At least eight firemen were overcome as heavy smoke poured from the structure. Several were sent to hospitals.

In Nashville, Tenn., fire gutted the century-old Maxwell House Hotel Monday night, sending its guests fleeing into the 30-degree weather. Firemen vainly fought the blaze for two hours. All the hotel's occupants were believed safe, although one elderly man was unaccounted for in the confusion.

At Groton, N.Y., a mother and her two remaining sons spent their Christmas Day in mourning for the other members of their family and a friend.

Irene L. Thayer's husband died Saturday at Glenwood and Piggott Saturday and at Newport Friday.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

Officers in this area were more than pleased with the relatively quiet holiday which with one exception was below normal routine.

Arkansas State Police there was very heavy highway traffic early last night but "by City Downing said there were no fatalities in this immediate area."

In fact only one in the district there were a few minor accidents but none resulted in injuries and very little property damage.

The officers said Hempstead was indeed fortunate — a check of memory by the officers, later made official at headquarters, revealed four traffic deaths in the county during 1961, two of these occurred in Hope.

The officers said that three Hempstead residents met death on the highway just across the river in Miller county during the Christmas Day.

Christmas Day the officers were called to an "accident" near Washington, Mo., arrival they discovered a Negro

West World Leaders in Peace Appeal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leaders of the Western world appealed for peace and unity in Christmas messages Monday while expressing grave concern over differences dividing major powers and flareups troubling lesser ones.

President Kennedy assured West Berliners in a taped television broadcast that the beacon of free Berlin "will continue to shine brightly for many years to come."

"We are at your side—as before," Kennedy declared. "We shall stay. Until truly there is good will among men, not walls to divide them, our pursuit of peace shall continue."

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt cabled Kennedy his appreciation, asserting that "Berliners will take upon themselves new burdens rather than to forsake convictions and principles which free men all over the world are willing to defend."

Churches were filled to capacity in both East and West Berlin. The grim concrete and barbed-wire wall the Communists threw up to divide the city was softened a bit by the first Christmas snow in five years. Some 800 lighted Christmas trees twinkled along the Western side of the wall to remind the East Berliners they were not forgotten.

Queen Elizabeth II said in a broadcast to the nations of the British Commonwealth: "We can only dispel the clouds of anxiety by the patient and determined efforts of us all. It cannot be done by condemning the past or by contracting out of the present."

Angry words and accusations certainly don't do any good, however justified they may be," Pope John XXIII, in a papal bull invoking a worldwide conference of the Roman Catholic Church next year for the first time since 1869, warned that "while humanity is on the verge of a new era, the church faces tasks of immense gravity and breadth as in the most tragic epochs of her history."

Palestinians, pilgrims and tourists packed the Christian churches at Jerusalem, and about 10,000 visitors journeyed across the Judean hills to services at Bethlehem, bathed in a brilliant winter sun.

Amid the prayers and the fasting, violence erupted as usual. A terrorist bombing killed at least 50 persons among 500 worshippers at Christmas Eve services at an army barracks at Buga, Colombia. More than 110 were reported injured in the blast, which came as a procession was about to place a figure of the infant Jesus in a manger.

Fire Destroys Landmark in Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The 102-year-old Maxwell House, once one of the South's most splendid hotels, was destroyed by a fire Christmas night, sending its occupants fleeing into 30-degree weather.

Between 60 and 70 persons, some in night clothes and carrying pets or Christmas gifts, were evacuated safely.

One elderly guest remained unaccounted for.

The blaze was first spotted on the fourth floor of the five-story hotel, which occupied one-fourth of a square block in downtown Nashville.

The origin of the fire, the third in four years at the hotel, had not been determined.

The Maxwell House was started in 1859 and the incomplete structure was used by Union troops during the Civil War to house Confederate prisoners. The building was finished in 1869.

In recent years, the Maxwell House catered to permanent guests.

Fire Marshal Dan Hicks said the brick and wooden building was insured for $1 million.

Traffic Deaths Surge to New Holiday Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic Deaths 521
Fires 83
Miscellaneous 85
Total 689

Christmas holiday traffic deaths soared past the 500 estimate of the National Safety Council to a six-year record Monday night.

The latest count of the three-day Yuletide period from 6 p.m. local time, Friday to midnight Monday was 521. Fires took 83 other lives and 65 persons died in miscellaneous mishaps. The overall total of violent deaths was 689.

The council increased its estimate to 550 or more midway through the holiday period.

This is the first year since 1955 that more than 500 persons have died in traffic accidents during a three-day Christmas holiday. The 609 traffic deaths in 1955 is the record for a 72-hour yuletide period.

Last year 488 persons died in highway accidents during the Christmas weekend, the lowest figure for that period in 10 years.

The council said weather played a major part in traffic accidents during the 72 hours. Many parts of the country were sheeted with ice and packed snow, making the crowded highways even more hazardous.

The toll ran considerably higher than did the results of a 72-hour, non-holiday weekend survey conducted by The Associated Press. In the period from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 22, to midnight, Dec. 23, 347 persons were killed in traffic accidents, 42 died in fires and 57 were killed in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 446.

Among the worst highway accidents was a two-car collision near Hearne, Tex., in which five persons were killed and two others injured.

Two couples were killed and five girls, aged 3 to 15, were orphaned when a station wagon and an automobile collided near Warren, Pa.

In Marietta, Ohio, a car carrying a group of young carolers and a truck collided, killing two boys and the father of one of the youths. The mother, following in another car, watched the tragedy.

Fires added to the grim holiday toll. In Groton, N.Y., three of a widow's five children and a farm laborer perished in a fire which destroyed a two-story frame building. A father and his twin 5-year-old stepdaughters died in flames which swept their home in Nankin Township near Detroit.

Foreign Aid $5.2 Billion During Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. aid to foreign nations totaled $5.2 billion last fiscal year, but big repayments by other countries cut the net figure to $3.9 billion, smallest since World War II.

This report, issued by the Commerce Department Monday, noted that the $5.2 billion was the largest amount of military and economic aid since the 1953 fiscal year when it totaled $6,352,000,000.

Included in the figures were such items as Mutual Security, Food for Peace, Export-Import Bank, and other programs.

Mrs. Sid Houston Is Buried Sunday

Mrs. Addie C. Houston, died Saturday in a local hospital. She had lived here for many years.

She is survived by her husband, Sid Houston, one son, Howard of Hope.

Services were held at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Tabernacle by the Rev. W. C. Land. Burial by Hendon-Cornelius was in Memory Gardens. Active pallbearers: Olin Whitley, John Cranford, Louis Sutton, J. O. Taylor, Rufus Howell and Fred Mouser.

Likely Faubus to Oppose Fulbright

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—
Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., announced today he would run for governor of Arkansas next year.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus could not be reached for comment on whether he will seek a fifth term.

Alford's announcement ended speculation that he might oppose

Defense Has Proved
Very Costly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense spending in the first five months of the current fiscal year was at a rate well below estimates for a full year. This indicates an acceleration is to be expected during the last half of the year which ends June 30.

The Pentagon said today that spending for military functions, not including foreign military assistance programs, totaled about $18.22 billion in the period up to Dec. 1. This would work out at a full year rate of $43.73 billion, compared with the budget estimate of $46.8 billion for the full year.

A step-up of spending in the latter half of any fiscal year is normal.

A substantial part of military spending also goes to payrolls subsistence for manpower, with the estimate for the current fiscal year being about $13.28 billion.
This includes additional costs for the call of Reservists. The Budget Bureau estimates spending for active duty by two National Guard divisions alone will total about $300 million.

Military manpower totaled about 2,760,000 at the start of this month, an increase of nearly 300, 000 since last summer. Prospects

Mother, Child
Die in Fire

MEMPHIS (AP)—A 5-year-old girl and her mother died in a house fire today after the woman rushed back into the blazing house in an attempt to rescue the trapped child.

Dead were Rebecca Robinson and her mother, Mrs. Truehart
Neely, 40, Negroes.

Relatives said Mrs. Neely escaped with other occupants, but raced back into the house when she realized her young daughter was still inside. The fast burning roof collapsed on them.

Cause of the fire was not known.
The accompanying expenditures—will diminish between now and next June 30 are small.

The budget estimate is that a total of $694 billion will be spent on procurement of weapons, equipment, services and other items in the current fiscal year.

Says Intruder Shot Husband

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Forty-four-year-old Kenneth Hickman was shot to death in the bedroom of his home Monday night, and his wife said an intruder did the killing.

Mrs. Helen Hickman told Sheriff Doyle Hickman that she and her husband, fully clothed, were lying across a bed talking when a man she did not know ran into the room and began cursing Hickman.

Hickman quoted her as saying that when she reached under a pillow for a pistol the intruder grabbed it and began shooting.

She said she fled from the house, which is about a mile north of Harrison, and ran more than a mile to the home of Hickman's employer, where officers were notified.

Hickman said Hickmanbottom had been shot several times, apparently with a .38-caliber pistol.

He was found dead when officers went to the house.

One person was held today for questioning. Officers refused to give out any identification, but sengers changed to an Air France plane scheduled to depart at 4:30 p.m. Mechanical troubles kept this one grounded until 9 p.m.

The Acapulco—scheduled to sail Friday from the Caribbean was denied clearance by Coast Guard safety inspectors on grounds it had excessive wooden paneling and that two lifeboats were faulty.

It left for Mexico on Sunday with only its 290 officers and crewmen aboard.

Tell Men If I'm Wrong Mr. K Urges

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev has urged lesser Soviet officials to tell him when he is wrong and not meekly to accept directives.

His declaration was made last week at a conference of agricultural officials in the Ukraine and published Monday by Pravda, the Communist party paper.

Khrushchev's remark was provoked by P. A. Vlasjuk, president of the Ukrainian Academy of Agriculture.

Vlasjuk had apparently said that in a criticized method of crop rotation, he had followed suggestions made by Khrushchev.

To this Pravda said Khrushchev replied:

"I can make a mistake but you, if you are an honest scientist, you should tell me: 'Comrade Khrushchev you do not understand that question altogether correctly.' If you explain to me how to correctly understand a question, then I would thank you for it."

Finally Get to Leave for Mexico

NEW YORK (AP)—Of 450 passengers barred from the cruise ship Acapulco by the U.S. Coast Guard, 35 finally got off to Mexico City for what's left of the Christmas holidays.

But they went by air, and they had to shake the hex that stayed with them to the very end.

The determined 35 booked passage with 36 other tourists on an Aeromexico de Mexico plane. The aircraft was due to leave Idlewild Airport at 9:30 a.m., but hydraulic troubles kept it grounded until 10:17 p.m.

After a couple of hours of taxiing to takeoff positions, then returning to the hangar, some passengers changed to an Air France plane scheduled to depart at 4:30 p.m. Mechanical troubles kept this one grounded until 9 p.m.

The Acapulco—scheduled to sail Friday from the Caribbean was denied clearance by Coast Guard safety inspectors on grounds it had excessive wooden paneling and that two lifeboats were faulty.

Ship Blast Is Fatal to Four

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—A Navy antisubmarine vessel today was blasted by an explosion amidships, killing the commanding officer and three other Thais.

The ship was one turned over to Thailand by the United States under the military aid program.

The ship, moored on Bangkok's Chao Phya River, was beached to prevent its sinking.

Car Crashes Into House, Man Killed

LOGAN, W.Va. (AP)—An automobile full of teenagers crashed through the wall of Otis Cleveland's bedroom early today and killed him in his bed.

Cleveland's wife, Florence, had just gotten out of bed to let in a daughter who was returning from a visit with friends. Mrs. Cleveland and the daughter escaped injury.

as did the eight occupants of the car—seven boys and a girl.

The accident occurred at 2:15 a.m. at McConnell, four miles south of Logan, where the Cleveland's one-story frame house sits just six feet back from W.Va. 10.

State Trooper J. Tryall said the car, driven by 18-year-old James W. Grace, first veered off the icy road and into a ditch on the opposite side from the house.

In getting out of the ditch, Grace lost control and swerved across the highway, running into the house on the other side.

Cleveland, 54, was killed outright.

U. S. Silent on Demand to Invade Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials are declining to say anything about a declaration by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., that the United States should invade Cuba and demand that the United Nations sanction the action.

"If the United Nations can sanction India's invasion of Goa, it should sanction our invasion of Cuba," Rivers said in Charleston, S.C., last week.

State Department officials said they had no comment on the declaration, a course usually followed when members of Congress make observations about foreign affairs.

The comment, however, appeared to have sparked widespread interest in diplomatic circles here. Although some were inclined to believe the situation was not parallel, diplomats who consider the Fidel Castro regime a menace to the United States and to other American republics say the Cuban problem is not something that will just go away.

Key-Archer Rites Read

Miss Faye Key, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Key and Virgil Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Archer of Hope, were joined in holy matrimony Friday, Dec. 22 at 6 p.m. in the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. J. D. Pasmore, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church.

For the single ring ceremony the bride wore a dress of blue jersey. Her accessories and her jewelry all were white. Mr. and Mrs. Archer will make their home in Hope.

Cosmopolitan Club Meets

Mrs. Rufus Sorrell's home was the attractive setting for the Christmas party of the Cosmopolitan Club Tuesday, Dec. 19. Co-hostesses for the annual dinner meeting were Mrs. Teddy Jones, Mrs. L. T. Lawrence, Mrs. F. M. Horton, Mrs. Henry Haynes and Mrs. Sorrell.

Clever styrofoam decorations were seen throughout the home as well as traditional ones. On the serving table, overlaid with a white lace cloth, white and silver decorations were used. Each of the quarter tables were the three course dinner was eaten, was centered with a gold thorn tree. The 22 places were marked with Christmas bells used as favors.

Mrs. R. L. Branch conducted an enjoyable game. Cute little prizes were awarded the winners and gifts were exchanged. Besides club members other guests were Mrs. Herbert Stephens of Blevins, Mrs. George Balentine, Mrs. R. B. Moore and Mrs. Jim Robertson.

Mrs. Ed Russell Is Honored

A dessert-bridge was given for Mrs. Ed Russell of Lexington, Ky. by her mother, Mrs. Garrett Story on Dec. 20 in the Story home. Red berries and red candles were among the colorful Christmas decorations used.

Mrs. Hollis Luck, Mrs. James McLarty, and Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins with four tables of bridge players were served pie and coffee by the hostess.

Later, when bridge was played, the high score was Mrs. C. P. Tolleson. Mrs. S. L. Murphy was the low and the traveling prize went to Mrs. Charles Harrell.

People Snap Up Gifts From U. S.

TRACADIE, N.B. (AP)—A Roman Catholic parish priest says that his parishioners snapped up Christmas gifts from U.S. airmen that were criticized locally as being of poor quality.

The Rev. Arthur Duguay said the shipment of fruit, chocolate bars and clothing from airmen at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida seemed to have "gone with the wind" in the nearby community.

Airmen at the Florida base collected the Christmas gifts and had them flown more than 2,500 miles to Brantville after finding notes attached to imported Christmas trees telling of hard times.

Claude Savoie, member of the New Brunswick Legislature, contended that most of the fruit was spoiled and that the clothing was unusable. He called the offering an insult to the residents.

Father Duguay said a number of parishioners met with him in a Christmas day office and expressed willing in Little Rock. She weighed 5 lb. less to accept the presents. The 14 oz. and has been named Elizabeth. Father said his people appreciated both Florence, Mrs. B. C. Hyatt the airman's efforts.

Christmas Observed in Viet Nam

EDITORS NOTE—Malcolm W. Browne, Associated Press correspondent for South Viet Nam, spent Christmas at an advanced training base north of Saigon, where 15 U.S. Army instructors and their Vietnamese trainees observed the holiday under the eyes of Viet Cong snipers.

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

TRUNG LAP, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite the constant threat of Viet Cong snipers and guerrillas, 15 U.S. Army men and their Vietnamese trainees stationed at this lonely ranger base in the jungle observed Christmas with a midnight Mass, a Christmas tree and a turkey dinner.

The Mass was said in Vietnamese by a South Vietnamese army chaplain. The Christmas tree was small and mounted on cases of mortar shells. And the turkey dinner had been carried 30 miles north from Saigon over bumpy, dangerous roads. But Trung Lap camp spent a peaceful holiday.

With the Americans were about 500 Vietnamese ranger trainees and their officers, some 70 of them Christians. Next week the rangers will begin field training problems conducted on the "learn while you fight" principle. The maneuvers will be conducted against the Viet Cong rebels themselves.

During the past week, the Viet Cong had tried to burn down two bridges on a rutted, dusty road connecting the camp with the outside world. Communist sniper fire had been taking its toll of casualties among the Vietnamese rangers.

As the sun set on Christmas Eve, sounds of rooster calls, and tomtoms told the camp that the Viet Cong outposts were watching and signaling from the surrounding rice fields and underbrush.

The new diesel generator was started, and lights came on in the new mess hall. A string of lights on the Christmas tree was plugged in, and Capt. Linton C. Beasley of Lynchburg, Va., senior U.S. adviser at the camp, produced a tape recorder with some Christmas carol tapes. When the generator failed, the men lit candles and sang.

During the day, the Rev. Dinh Tuan Ngan had arrived at the camp under heavy escort in his pink chaplain's jeep. Father Ngan could speak no English but communicated with the Americans in enthusiastic, broken French, and prepared a makeshift altar and confessional in a training hut. During the past year, the Viet Cong has made priests special targets. A French priest was murdered while visiting his parishioners two weeks ago.

After dinner Monday, the Americans played cards, swapped stories, read or wrote letters. Most were lonely. For all this was the first Christmas in Viet Nam, and for some of the younger officers it was the first Christmas away from home. Most are married and have children back at home.

Shortly before midnight, the massive barred wire gate to the fort was opened. Vietnamese rangers carrying tommy guns escorted about 20 women and their children from the nearby village inside. All the villagers were dressed in their best clothes and had come for Mass. The children were given candy and taken to see the Christmas tree, but the generator had failed and the tree lights were out. In the darkness, the children inspected the tinsel by flashlight illumination.

The villagers were joined at the Mass by the Christian rangers and most of the Americans. Firecrackers were exploded to scare off mosquitoes, and the priest solemnly intoned the Roman Catholic rites.

As the villagers walked away from the improvised chapel, an American mortarman fired five illuminating flares into the warm northern sky, casting a bright glare over the rice fields. The shells exploded in the sky, forming the rough pattern of a star. Lookout posts checked the field, but no Viet Cong were in sight.

On Christmas Day, the Americans moved out of camp in combat formation for an inspection of the bridges and the nearby village. Children flocked around and candy was distributed.

During the day an army plane flew low over the camp, dropping a box of mail. The mail plane has not tried to land at the camp since breaking its landing gear there several months ago.

Just before sunset, Americans and Vietnamese set up a volleyball net and played until dinner. The prized turkey and fixings were prepared with a flourish by Sgt. Al Combs, 34, of Brooklyn, N.Y., whose wife and four children stayed in Okinawa when he was sent to Viet Nam.

Along with all the other U.S. troops at Trung Lap, Combs can cook, fire mortars, train Vietnamese rangers, perform minor surgery, fix communications equipment, demolish enemy emplacements, fight in any kind of terrain, make combat parachute jumps or hack paths through the jungle. But on Christmas his principal problem was preparation of cranberry sauce.

The men went to bed early.

Mrs. Edward Jonathan Cooper

The marriage of Miss Shirley Faye Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Allen, and Edward Jonathan Cooper, son of Mr. Emma Cooper of Emmet and the late Mrs. Jonathan Cooper, was solemnized Friday, Dec. 22 at 7 p.m. in the Oak Grove Methodist Church with Rev. James H. Shaddox officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before a background of smiles and candles. Candles entwined with smiles stayed along the altar and formed an arch. Floor baskets of white gladioli and stock blanketed the place of ceremony. Pink ribbons marked the aisle for the wedding party. A program of musical music was played by Miss Ellen Kennedy, pianist. She accompanied Billy Mitchell, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father there had been an intelligence report that a Viet Cong platoon with at least one automatic weapon had moved into the area, and the war would continue tomorrow.

Little Miss Peggy Sanders, cousin of the bride, of Nashville, was flower girl. She also wore a frock of autumn green velvet. The bride is a student at South Master Ricky Allen, cousin of the groom.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Emmet where the groom teaches school. The bride is a student at South Master Ricky Allen, cousin of the groom.

Future of Family Still Undecided

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Walter M. Campman isn't certain about the future of her five granddaughters orphaned and injured in a traffic crash that killed their parents the day before Christmas.

"I don't know yet," Mrs. Campman said Monday when asked where the youngsters would live after their release from a hospital. "It's too soon to tell."

The children—July, 15; Rita, 13; Mona, 10; Sandra, 11; and Janet, 3—are listed in fair condition at Warren General Hospital.

They were hurt in an auto-truck collision that killed their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Campman of Falconer, N.Y., on U.S. 6 about seven miles west of Warren.

Also killed in the crash were Lloyd Palmer, 45, and Kathleen Smith, 37, both of nearby Irvine. Each is survived by five children.

The older Mr. and Mrs. Campman, who live near Irvine, were the bride's ringbearer.

Donald Munn of Prescott served as best man. Groomsmen were Wendel Hamilton and Mike Sumuets of Emmet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Allen chose a dress of leaf green peau de soie. She wore a corsage of white feathered carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for the bridal couple was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. Baskets of goods were at vantage points.

The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth over green. The bride placed her bouquet beneath the crystal candelabra in the center of the table. The three-tiered wedding cake featuring lilies of the valley was served by Misses Cynthia Harrison and Paulette Stewart. Sue Fuller and Velora Bright served punch from a crystal bowl.

A white memory candle surrounded by green centered the table where Miss Barbara Thompson registered arriving guests.

Others in the reception included Mrs. Sam Huckabee, Mrs. Lit Bruce, and Mrs. Denville Ross. Each wore a single carnation.

Little Miss Debbie Impson of Ft. Benning, Ga., and Master Steve Skinner handed out rice bags. For travel the bride wore a baby blue wool sheath with black accessories and pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Emmet where the groom teaches school. The bride is a student at South Master Ricky Allen, cousin of the groom.

Wife's Love Dies as Husband's Flames

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: On 3 different occasions my husband and I have spoken the marriage vows but I regret to say, broken them, hence this plea.

We secretly married when I was 17 and he 18. A conventional wedding followed. I was in high school and my husband was not earning enough to keep one, let alone two. So we lived for free with my mother and brother and were as happy as two children in wonderland.

Then my husband began staying out late, dating other girls, station wagon collision that killed their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Campman of Falconer, N.Y., on U.S. 6 about seven miles west of Warren.

But you couldn't keep us apart. Three months later we had another wedding ceremony. "This," we said, "is forever."

Ha Ha! The same old merry-go-round; husband on the alleyway shift, bickering at home, clash of wills, hell in a cottage.

"You are both acting the kids you are," said Mother and moved in to help us straighten out. This was probably the best period of our off-again, on-again marriage.

Then my husband received his draft call and I had two lovely years to learn what I wanted. It wasn't my husband! No, marriage was not for me. What I wanted was a college education, a career, and an opportunity to make something of my drab life.

Then my husband's tour of duty ended. He has been home six weeks, got himself a fine paying job, and promises me the moon—including a college education if I will only stick by him. As his love rekindles, mine dies. No woman could ask for a more devoted man and yet—What shall I do?—In a Quandry.

Dear Quandry: A college education is all very well but life itself is a wonderful education, if hosts Sunday at a dinner for their son, daughter-in-law, and five granddaughters.

Their son and his family then climbed into their station wagon for the 30-mile trip back to their home at Falconer.

They had gone about five miles when the crash occurred. State police, reconstructing the tragedy, said an auto driven by Mrs. Smith swung left to go around a car ahead and smashed head-on into the station wagon.

Palmer was riding with Mrs. Smith. Other passengers were Palmer's daughter, Mary, 15; William Slocum, 37, of Irvine, and his wife, Dorothy, 33. They also are hospitalized with injuries.

An Englishman arrived to do Spain on a tight budget.

Chapter I

The bus from Gibraltar was late. When it finally pulled up in front of the Bar Central, the sun was down and the evening tones of pink and silver were moving up the mountains behind the village.

Dennis Campbell was the last person to get off the bus. In his blue blazer and flannel slacks he seemed oddly out of place in the crowd of passengers yelling at the bus driver and shaking baggage checks in his face. There was an air of ineffectual dignity about him, or a kind of shy courtesy, perhaps, which set him apart from the group. He stood clear of the group, he stood clear of the bus, he stood clear of the crowd. He was looking about with a tentative smile. He was a tall, slim man with fair hair, pleasant sensitive features and mild blue eyes.

An Englishman here to do Spain on a tight budget.

This was an uncharitable reflex on my part, a bad habit one gets into abroad: Cataloging people from appearance, pining them down like specimens on cardboard.

At the time I was sitting inside the Bar Central where it was comparatively quiet. Outside, the terrace was packed with tourists. Most of the people inside were semi-permanent residents of Miramar. In the summer, they let the tourists have the terrace.

The crowd at the big center table was getting noisier now; Zoggy O'Neill and a couple of other bearded young Americans had started a song.

Alan Morley, a large, powerful-built Britisher was listening with what looked like resigned boredom, but the rest of the people at the table—a pair of French girls and a plump little American named Monica Smith—were apparently getting a kick out of the singing.

It was old familiar nonsense to most of us, but the Englishman looked as confused and embarrassed as if he'd blundered into the women's room.

There was an empty chair at my table, so I caught his eye and said, "Sit here, if you like."

"That's awfully kind of you," he said. "I will, thanks, if you don't mind." Sliding his bag under the table, he sat down quickly, as if he were afraid I might withdraw the offer. He nudged toward Zoggy O'Neill's table and gave me a quick, shy smile. "Enjoying themselves, aren't they? Americans, I expect."

"How did you guess?"

I hadn't meant to be sarcastic. I interpreted it that way: the smile faded quickly from his face. "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to be rude. I work in a hotel, and I've seen a good many Americans over the years. I like them very much. They're exuberant, full of spirit, and all the rest of it."

"That's right," I said, smiling at him, hoping to end it there. He was younger than I'd thought. He was late thirties probably.

He cleared his throat. "I don't know the drill here, but may I buy you a drink?" He laughed clumsily, as if he were imitating a trick he'd seen performed by some clever person on a stage. "I imagine that's done here occasionally."

"Thanks," I said. "I'll have a glass of wine."

"Good. My name's Campbell, Dennis Campbell."

"John Martin."

We shook hands.

I gave our orders to Enrique, who explained that he needed a pickup after the bus ride from Gibraltar.

"You've been here for a while?" he asked me.

"Several months."

"You must know your way from the cruel sun. Think of that!"

"I say!" Dennis was obviously touched by Chip's story: there was a smile on his lips, a glint of admiration in his eye. "I know I would love Spain," he said. "It's exotic, it's crazy, but it's rather beautiful."

"Hah!" Chip said. "I know you'd get it. One look at you and I knew you were my kind of guy."

"It's grand, of course, but I don't quite see how it affects me. That is, the road to the Snail, and so forth."

"Ah, that's the nice practical thing about it. The road she's building goes right past the Snail and down to the village. You'll have no trouble driving up and down at full-speed if you like."

"Just one thing, old man. How does she get up and down the hill at present?"

"There's another road. It comes in the opposite side of the hill."

"Doesn't do the Snail any good, eh?"

"No, not a bit. The Snail stands alone. Ha! Ha! Like the cheese. Now we must go up and take a look at it."

"Yes, we must. When is she building this road by the way?"

"Immediately, immediately. When you get back from Gibraltar, I imagine it'll be ready. But not the shade trees. Ha! Ha! Even the Marquesa can't do that overnight."

Dennis suddenly stood and squared his shoulders. In a rich, thick voice he said: "I consider it a privilege to live with the Marquesa—as a neighbor that is, because this spirit of —" He paused, frowning hard at the table top, apparently attempting to snatch a word from the swirling stream of his thoughts. Finally he gave up. "Sentiments clear enough, I imagine. No point hacking it to death. Shall we go?"

"Hear! Hear!" Chip said.

Before they left Dennis wrung my hand and thanked me earnestly for everything.

The next time I saw Dennis was at my villa. He appeared one morning while I was having breakfast on the terrace. The day was ideal for that, clear and cool, with the flowers blazing in the dry air, and a gentle wind coming in off the sea.

"Well, hello," I said. "Sit down and have a cup of tea."

"Thanks, but I've had breakfast. I hope you'll forgive my barging in this way."

He was turned out smartly in gray flannel slacks and a white shirt with a blue ascot knotted about his throat, but behind this cheerful sartorial facade I detected the imps of gloom and anxiety: his sensitive face was clouded with irritation, and a tiny muscle pulled rhythmically at the corner of his mouth.

"Have some tea," I said. "Go ahead."

"Very well. It's awfully kind of you."

I called to Maria for another cup. "What's the matter?" I asked him.

"It's that blasted road. Or the lack of it, to put it more accurately. You see, I've taken the Snail for three months."

"So I heard."

"That very night we met," he said gloomily. "Paid Mr. Addleboe 15,000 pesetas on the spot. Plus his commission, 2,000 more." He ran a hand over his fair hair. "I don't like bothering you with this nonsense."

"That's all right."

"The thing is, it's half-an-hour's hike to and from the blasted place. Coming down isn't too bad. But climbing up there would be jolly good training for a decathlete man." Dennis looked moodily into his tea cup. "I can't get my car within a mile of the place."

"Have you tried to see Addleboe?"

"Yes, half-a-dozen times. He's having heart attacks, it seems. That's what his wife told me."

Dennis smiled wanly. "She's a remarkable sort. Slacks and jewelry and high heels at breakfast. Health saving away for Spain. Told me he's an American aristocrat, belongs to the Chowder Club in New York. Is that something special?"

"The Chowder? Sure. The chairman of the Admissions Committee has the garbage contract for our city." I finished my tea. "Seriously, I said, for Dennis was frowning at me: "Chip means all picture taking shape and color you the Snail if he hadn't been drinking. You see, he usually leases it to people who want something cheap and don't mind the long hike to and from the village. College boys or Germans."

"Yes, I expect he's a decent enough chap. I was carried away in this first night in Spain, hearing about the Marquesa and so on. I suspect I've provided a good loud laugh for the village."

"I wouldn't worry about that."

"I can't help it. When I go to the village I feel people are staring at me, hiding their smiles till in. She decided to build the road I've gone by." He straightened his shoulders. "What I came here for is this you know the Marquesa de Palma, is that right?"

"Yes, Casually."

"I've tried several times to see her. I've left messages but nothing seems to help. I can't get in and past her maid. Dark-haired girl, she's going Spanish with a curiously pointed in triumph at the plant shade trees! Up and down our

JFK Going Back to Washington

By KARL R. SAUMAN

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy, attired informally and appearing relaxed, visited his seriously ill father today.

The President's schedule called also for a checkup on his back, which he injured in a tree-planting ceremony last summer. Dr. Preston Wade, a New York specialist, was called to Palm Beach for what was described as a routine examination later today.

Kennedy had nothing to say to newsmen when he left the hospital. He spent 24 minutes with his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who suffered a stroke a week ago today.

Wearing a blue blazer, gray sports shirt and white flannel trousers, Kennedy drove in an open convertible to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach, where his father is hospitalized.

The President and First Lady then drove to the small white chapel at St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach to attend 10 o'clock Mass.

They spent 50 minutes with the President's father, who is battling against pneumonia as well as the after-effects of a stroke he suffered a week ago today.

They returned for another 35-minute visit Monday night.

The President and First Lady seemed to be much more relaxed Larkin. She's Irish."

"That accounts for it then. She's quite attractive in any case. But the thing is she just smiles and sends me away."

"You want to see the Marquesa about building the road?"

"Yes," he said eagerly. "I wonder if you'd be kind enough to introduce me to her."

"Dennis, I'll be honest with you. The Marquesa says she plans to build a road. Nice paved road, shade trees, a little park for the children. But that's what her father said too. And that's what her grandfather said."

Joins Massachusetts U.

MISS MARGARET NELLE MEDDERS, DAUGHTER OF Mr. and Mrs. Garland Medders, will join the staff of the University of Massachusetts, located in Amherst. She was recently appointed as assistant to the Director of the Bureau of Governmental Research in the university's Government Department.

AN HONOR GRADUATE OF NORTH TEXAS STATE University, Miss Medders majored in government and was doing graduate work there. She also attended Texas A and I College in Kingsville, and Henderson State Teachers College in Arkadelphia.

MISS MEDDERS IS WELL KNOWN IN HOPE, AND SHE will be remembered for her solo work with the Methodist Church choir and singing for other occasions. She plans to spend the holidays with the family in Hope and will report for her new position in Amherst on January 2.

Salinger said the elder Kennedy's condition remains serious, but that he recognized members of his family who visited him during the morning and seemed to respond well to their visit.

The fever from the pneumonia was reported to have gone down. This is regarded as a favorable sign by doctors. However, it is understood there has been no improvement on the chest and throat, parent improvement in the reported the former ambassador that paralysis which followed the to Britain was better Monday. stroke.

Social S. Tax Rate to Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Social Security tax rates go up again Jan. 1, with the increased revenues helping meet the cost of benefit changes which became effective under amendments signed into law June 30.

The hike amounts to one-eighth of 1 per cent for employees and employers, and to two-tenths of 1 per cent for the self-employed. This makes the new rate 3 1/2 per cent for employee and employer, or a total payroll tax of 6 1/2 per cent for each employee, and 4.7 per cent for self-employed workers.

The tax applies to the first $4,800 of annual earnings by employees. The maximum annual amount of payroll tax will be $300 instead of the present $288, or $150 each on employee and employer instead of $144.

The new maximum tax for self-employed will be $225.60 instead of $216 a year.

Changes effective this year included: giving retired men the option to collect reduced benefits at 62 instead of at 65; increasing aged dependent widows' benefits by about 10 per cent; increasing the minimum from $33 to $40 a month; providing more incentive for beneficiaries to work by reducing the amount that has to be withheld from their benefits because of earnings above certain levels.

Three Major Tournaments Will Start

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three major tournaments, featuring some of the nation's top teams, head the college basketball schedule today, while three other important tournaments kick off Wednesday.

Starting today are the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden, the inaugural Quaker City tourney at the Palestra in Philadelphia and one of the nation's oldest holiday tournaments, the 26th annual All-College at Oklahoma City.

Starting Wednesday are the Los Angeles Classic, featuring four of the country's top 10 teams, the Big Eight tourney at Kansas City and the Far West at Portland, Ore.

Those six tournaments and their progress-finals in all but the All-College affair will be Saturday night—should be the focal point of the week.

The list of the major unbeaten, already trimmed to 10, will be reduced one more tonight when New York University and Dayton each 6-0, clash in the Holiday Festival at New York.

Neither, however, holds the favorite role, with such powers as Cincinnati, defending NCAA champion and ranked second in the nation, and third-ranked Providence in the field.

Defending champion Wichita and tough Utah State, each 8-1, head the field in the All-College, while Duquesne and Villanova, two more unbeaten and surprise teams in the East, share the limelight in the Quaker City affair.

Here are the first round pairings:
ECAC Holiday Festival at New York: Dartmouth (2-1) vs. LaSalle (3-1) and Cincinnati (6-1) vs. Dayton (6-0) and Providence (1-0) vs. Wisconsin (4-2) tonight. Semifinals are Thursday, finals Saturday.

Quaker City tourney at Philadelphia: Duquesne (6-0) vs. Wyoming (4-3) and Penn State (5-1) vs. Iowa (4-2) this afternoon and Villanova (8-0) vs. Niagara (4-1) and Pen (4-1) vs. Holy Cross (3-1) tonight. Semifinals are Thursday, finals Saturday.

All-College at Oklahoma City: Texas Christian (1-5) vs. Houston (7-2) and Oklahoma City (4-3) vs. Utah State (8-1) tonight and Seattle (5-0) vs. Bowling Green (5-1) and Wichita (8-1) vs. Texas A & M (4-2) Wednesday night. Semifinals are Thursday, finals Friday.

Fog Plagues Air, Auto Travel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Patchy fog plagued some air and auto travel today for the sixth day since Dec. 20.

Lockheed Air Terminal in suburban Burbank was closed. Plane passengers were taken to Los Angeles International Airport, where operations continued — a switch in the two airports' recent roles. Downtown Los Angeles was only hazy.

The morning sun melted the fog away. The forecast is for more morning fog and afternoon sun Wednesday.

Oilers Again Lick Diego for Pro Title

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"It's like taking over the New York Yankees in midseason," happy Wally Lemm said after his Houston Oilers won their second American Football League championship.

"I was real lucky to step in here with all this material," Lemm said.

The Oilers beat San Diego, 10-3, Sunday to complete the AFL's rag-to-riches story for this year.

Lemm took over as Houston's coach in mid-October when Houston was in the Eastern Division cellar with a 1-3-1 record. Under Lemm Houston won 10 straight.

The Oilers already are looking to next year.

"Let's make it three straight now," quarterback George Blanda said shortly after he signed a 1962 contract. "Only let's don't play them again next week."

"This will prove to those people that we play defense in this league," Blanda said. "Where do you find a better game than that?"

Six Houston players left the game because of injuries. Two—Bill Groman and Fred Glick—did not return.

Blanda passed to Billy Cannon for the game's only touchdown and kicked a 46-yard field goal.

The morning sun melted the fog away.

The forecast is for more morning fog and afternoon sun Wednesday.

Cotton Bowl Teams Back at Work

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Texas and Mississippi return to the practice field today to wind up training for their Cotton Bowl date here New Year's Day.

Texas will be practicing at Austin and Mississippi at its home base in Oxford.

Each comes flying into Dallas Saturday in time for the Texas Sports Hall of Fame luncheon and a workout in the afternoon.

As the Rebels and Longhorns pointed toward Dallas and the ticket scramble became more intense—the big bowl was sold out weeks ago—Mississippi continued to rate as favorite to win the game and remain dominant over Southern Conference teams.

Southwest Conference teams never have beaten Mississippi in any bowl game. In fact this league has been having trouble beating anybody in a bowl game the past five years.

Desperately needed is a decision in the Cotton Bowl, a game that is the promotion of the conference itself. The past four years have found the conference failing to win a game. The best it has been able to do is Texas Christian's 1-30 p.m. (CST).

Porks Going to LSU on Wednesday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks begin working off their fatening Christmas dinners Wednesday in Baton Rouge, La., their last training site before next Monday's Sugar Bowl game with Alabama in New Orleans.

The Hogs take off Wednesday morning for Baton Rouge. They'll use Louisiana State's training facilities while the Tigers are in camp.

Navy beat Rice 20-7 in 1958, Syracuse won over Texas 23-14 in 1960 and last Jan. 1 Duke edged Arkansas 7-6.

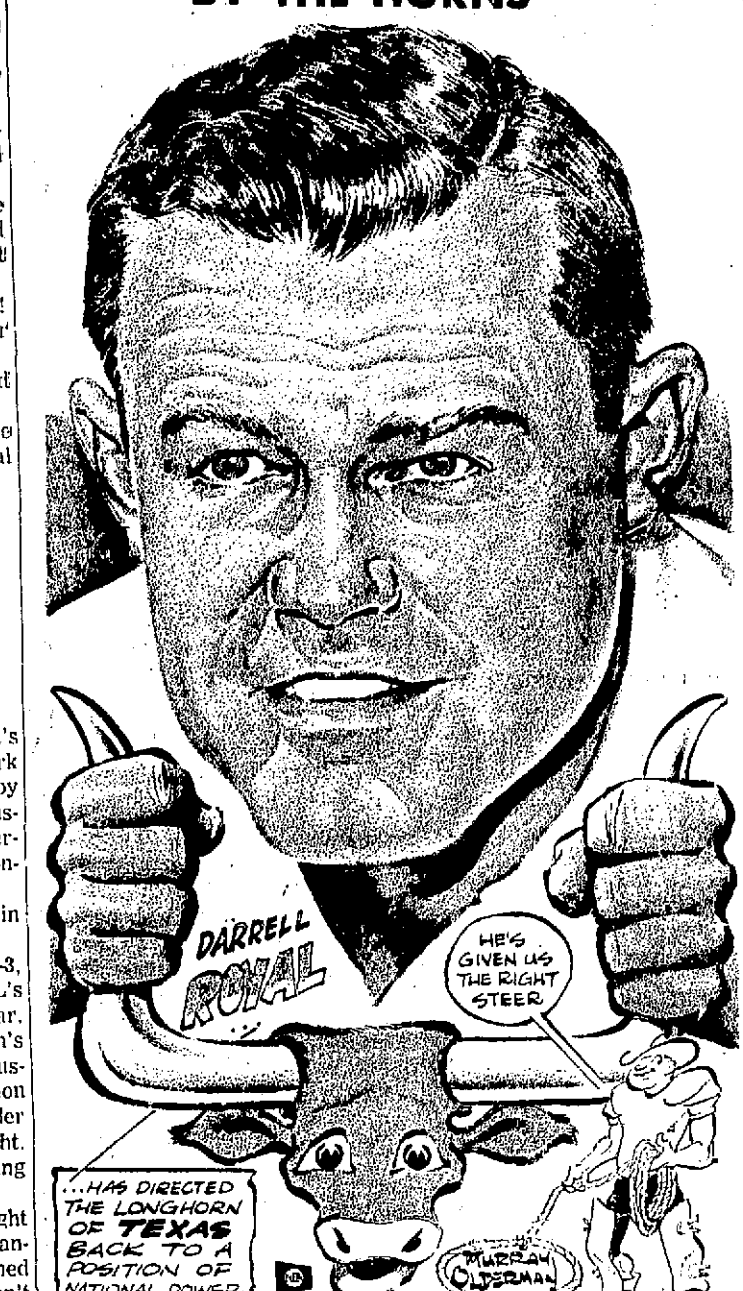

Mississippi's ground game was blunted somewhat with an injury to fullback Billy Ray Adams that will keep him at home next Monday. He was the team's leading rusher.

Mississippi still has its high-powered aerial attack hitting on in the Cotton Bowl, however, and the Rebels scored 19 touchdowns with their passing.

The crowd will be 75,504 Monday when the teams square off at 1:30 p.m. (CST).

Navy beat Rice 20-7 in 1958, Syracuse won over Texas 23-14 in 1960 and last Jan. 1 Duke edged Arkansas 7-6.

Mississippi's ground game was blunted somewhat with an injury to fullback Billy Ray Adams that will keep him at home next Monday. He was the team's leading rusher.

Mississippi still has its high-powered aerial attack hitting on in the Cotton Bowl, however, and the Rebels scored 19 touchdowns with their passing.

The crowd will be 75,504 Monday when the teams square off at 1:30 p.m. (CST).

Warmth of Christmas Lingers Yet

By PIERCE LEHMBECK
Associated Press Staff Writer

A special Christmas warmth lingered across the continent today. It burned in the eyes of children of misfortune remembered by the fortunate, in the minds of troubled adults touched by the kindness of neighbors, and in the hearts of the charitable who experienced again the blessedness of the countless as the strands in the giving.

Examples? They were nigh as heard of that ageless North Pole resident who circled the earth in the pre-dawn hours Monday.

Freddie Downer, 7, was killed by a car early this month as he crossed a street in Massena, N.Y., to telephone Santa Claus and remind him of an important letter he had written.

"Even if you have to leave me out, Santa," the boy wrote, "please don't forget my sister."

Three-year-old Vicky was not forgotten.

Through the magic that is St. Nick's way of doing things, gifts and money for more gifts turned up under her tree Christmas morning.

In Bloomfield, Conn., friends of the 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Cahill went caroling to gather donations for the Cahills, who were made homeless by a fire two nights before Christmas.

Louisa Cahill, 7, was critically burned.

Bloomfield and other communities responded with fund drives, gifts and clothing.

Fires Saturday night destroyed the homes of the James Sanders and Clarence Lofton families in Nashville. Both Negro families lost all their possessions, including the Christmas presents.

But the word spread, and by Christmas morn they had received money, food, clothing and promises of furniture.

At New Cumberland, Pa., near Harrisburg, a fire two weeks ago left Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jones and their seven children without home, clothing or personal possessions.

The Fairview Fire Co., its ladies auxiliary, the Fairview Lions' club and others in the community pooled their compassion.

The Jones had a partially completed house which they planned to occupy in about six months. Local merchants contributed insulation, plumbing, heating, electrical wire and flooring.

The ladies auxiliary purchased new Christmas gifts.

Forty men got together Dec. 17 and started work on the house.

On Christmas morning the Jones were in their new home. They had a tree laden with toys delivered by a Santa Claus helper Christmas Eve.

Silas Brown, who worked on shrimp boats in Florida, went to Texas to seek a trucking job. He arrived in Galveston with his wife and seven children—and $2.

Police found the family on Christmas Eve under a cause-way, where they had gone for shelter.

"I knew these people in Galveston had suffered from the hurricane and I didn't want to push in on them," Brown explained.

Police arranged for a free meal, then clothing, free lodging through the holidays, more than $200 in cash, toys, a turkey dinner — and perhaps most important, a job offer.

"It kind of reaffirms your faith," said Brown.

In Springfield, Mo., a man called the Salvation Army Christmas morning and asked how much the organization needed to meet its goal for its Christmas fund for needy families.

"$991," he was advised.

The caller, who asked that his name not be revealed, sent a check for the $991.

When to Fish or Hunt

Solunar Tables

By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours there after. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.
